Discipleship entails denying our very selves and following the way of the Lord, a way of suffering and service. In professing our faith in him we can rely on the Lord for strength and salvation.

Living Out the Beatitudes in Our Daily Lives

Beloved Parishioners,

Today I reflect with you on living the beatitudes. The Beatitudes given to us by Jesus Himself during the Sermon on the Mount (Matthew 5:3-12), offers us a practical blueprint for Christian living. We define them as fundamental principles of blessedness because they aid us to understand and attain true happiness and fulfillment in the Christian faith. Living out the Beatitudes in our daily lives invariably involves translating these spiritual teachings into actionable behaviors and attitudes.

Each of this collection of eight blessings pronounced by Jesus begins with the phrase "Blessed are," followed by a characteristic or condition that is associated with receiving God's favor. One observable feature of these blessings is that they often stand in stark contrast to worldly values and subsequently offer radical reorientation of how we perceive happiness and success. The following are the Beatitudes:

1. "Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven" Poverty of spirit refers to an attitude of humility and dependence on God and an acknowledgment of our spiritual neediness and recognition that all we have is a gift from God. It challenges the pride and self-sufficiency often celebrated in society.

2. "Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted" Mourning here refers to more than personal grief; it includes a deep sorrow for sin and its impact on the world.

3. "Blessed are the meek, for they will inherit the earth" Meekness is not weakness but strength under control. It involves gentleness, humility, and the ability to respond to others with patience and kindness, even when provoked.

4. "Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness, for they will be filled"

This Beatitude speaks to a deep desire for justice and moral integrity. It reflects a longing for God's righteousness to be evident in personal conduct and societal structures.

5. "Blessed are the merciful, for they will be shown mercy" Mercy involves showing compassion and forgiveness to others, even when it is undeserved. It reflects God's unconditional love and forgiveness towards humanity.

6. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they will see God" Purity of heart involves sincerity, integrity, and a single-minded devotion to God. It means having a heart free from deceit and filled with genuine love for God and others.

7. "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they will be called children of God"

Peacemaking involves actively working towards reconciliation and harmony. It requires a proactive effort to resolve conflicts and promote unity among individuals and communities.

8. "Blessed are those who are persecuted because of righteousness, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven"

Beatitudes acknowledge the reality of suffering for one's faith and commitment to righteousness. It reflects the idea that enduring persecution for standing up for God's principles is a path to receiving divine reward.

What are the practical steps to living out the Beatitudes? First, we practice humility by recognizing our limitations and being open to learning from others and by acknowledging that your strengths and resources are ultimately gifts from God. This will open us up to regularly express gratitude for the blessings in our life; when we empathize with others, we show compassion and offer support to those who are grieving or suffering. This also challenges us to take an active role in addressing social injustices and working towards solutions that alleviate suffering. When wronged, we ought to choose to forgive and let go of resentment because meekness involves maintaining a spirit of reconciliation and peace. In the same vein, we should avoid seeking recognition or asserting dominance. Instead, we should focus on serving others and valuing their contributions; we should strive to engage in practices that foster spiritual growth, such as prayer, meditation, studying Scripture, and commitment to the sacraments. Allow these practices to refine our heart and intentions which enable us to make decisions and live in a manner that reflects our commitment to God's principles; to be merciful, we should practice forgiveness even in challenging circumstances, let go of grudges and offer grace to those who have wronged us, engage in acts of kindness and generosity towards others, and look for opportunities to help those in need, whether through volunteering or financial support. Finally, we must stand firm in faith, remain steadfast in our Christian beliefs and values, even when faced with opposition or persecution, draw strength from our faith and trust in God's provision, advocate for those who are suffering for their faith or values, and offer support and raise awareness about their plight.

Living out the Beatitudes in our daily lives requires a deep commitment to embodying the values and principles that Jesus taught us.

Fr. Tony Okolo C.S.Sp., V.F.

Theme: Who Is Jesus for You

24th Sunday in Ordinary Time Year B, September 15, 2024

First Reading Isaiah 5-9a, Second James 2:14-18, Gospel Mark 8:27-35

Who is Jesus for You? How do you respond to the question of who Jesus is? There may be some reasons Jesus put this question to His disciples: “Who do you say the son of man is?” First, Jesus was gradually coming to the end of His earthly ministry to face Jerusalem where He will take up His cross to suffer and die in the hands of the chief priests, elders, and religious leaders. So, He wanted to be sure that those who had been His closest companions knew who He was and the purpose of His mission. It is very possible one can be with someone for years without knowing exactly who that person is. As a result, Jesus wanted to be sure His disciples knew Him. His ministry would have been a failure if the apostles did not know their Master as that would have signified the end of His ministry.

Another consideration for Jesus’ question would be, if they know Him as the Messiah do they understand the implication of what His messiahship entails. Peter’s response proves they know Jesus as the Messiah without knowing the consequence of Messiahship. No wonder when Jesus explains how He would be rejected by the elders, the chief priests and the scribes and finally be killed, Peter felt disappointed and could not accept the situation. Peter takes Jesus aside to rebuke Him for saying such unacceptable things which prompted Jesus to call Him Satan that his thinking is not as God but as human. Anyone or anything that prevents one from responding to God’s call could be called a Satan and that is what Jesus means when He called Peter Satan because Peter wanted to obstruct Him from carrying His cross which was His call. It is against this background that the call to carry one’s cross, as a Christian, becomes important since Jesus has led the way for everyone.

The call to follow Jesus would always demand carrying our crosses which may come in different forms. Jesus without doubt places this revelation before His disciples that following Him and being His disciple would involve such challenge and that one may not avoid it. For me, the cross is any challenge that comes to one which the person never prayed for or desired or brought to oneself. As disciples of Jesus, the challenge of the cross comes to us daily but drawing strength from Jesus, we are confident to triumph. Accepting trials like sickness, marriage disappointments, loss of a loved one, difficult children and offering them all to God in prayer without complaint is a way of embracing our crosses. Let us submit ourselves, our problems and the challenges we face daily to God knowing that He will help us carry them.

Happy Sunday to you all and may God bless you.

Fr. Tony Okolo C.S.Sp., V.F.

Prayer to Saint Michael, the Archangel

St. Michael the Archangel, defend us in battle. Be our defense against the wickedness and snares of the devil. May God rebuke him, we humbly pray, and do thou, O Prince of the heavenly hosts, by the power of God, thrust into hell, Satan and all the evil spirits, who prowl about the world seeking the ruin of souls. Amen.

Oración a San Miguel Arcángel

San Miguel Arcángel, defiéndenos en la lucha; sé nuestro amparo contra la maldad y asechanzas del demonio. Pedimos suplicantes que Dios lo mantenga bajo su imperio; y tu, Príncipe de la milicia celestial, arroja al infierno, con el poder divino, a Satanás y a los otros espíritus malvados que andan por el mundo para la perdición de las almas. Amén.

SPIRITUAL COMMUNION PRAYER

(For those who are not able to receive Communion at this time)

My Jesus, I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive you sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separate from you. Amen

Virtue of the Month

The virtue for September is Humility

Saint Bernadette

Bernadette was a young girl living in Lourdes, France. She saw a vision of Our Lady who asked her to have a chapel built there. Lourdes is now a place of pilgrimage and healing for the sick. Bernadette became a nun and showed great humility by never seeking fame or recognition for her visions even though Our Lady chose her to be God's messenger.

St. Bonaventure

Bonaventure lived at the same time as St. Thomas Aquinas and was equally known for his knowledge. He and Aquinas were both asked to write prayers for the celebration of Corpus Christi. When Bonaventure saw the prayers Aquinas wrote, he didn't even finish his because his humility saw that what Aquinas wrote was more worthy to be prayed by the Church.

“Christ in the Neighborhood”

Join us! Every third Saturday of each month
4:30 pm - 6:30 pm.

This intimate “small group” ministry assigns you to a new group every 3 months where you experience community with fellow parishioners, sharing a meal, your faith and life experiences.

(Times may change depending on your group)

“The small group setting allows for people to share their life stories...stories which we would never hear just meeting them at the church or at a meeting. We heard an incredible story. We now feel a connection with that fellow parishioner, a bond that wasn’t there before. Our relationship is forever changed.”

-Sherry Ketner

“I love going to the homes, getting to know people better, and hearing their stories. This is great! I love it.”

-Fr. Tony Okolo

“I got to meet some friends, and even got to know some people I have seen many times at church but never spent time with. Good company, good food, good stories – and best of all was sharing stories of faith. We build each other up.”

-Melanie Sarino
