The Lord provides for Elijah's needs as the widow of Zarephath shares with him from her want. Her generosity is mirrored in the widow in the temple who gives from her poverty and not from power, privilege or excess. In Jesus, God became poor for us, offering himself to take away our sins.

Reflection for the Feast of All Saints Part 1

Beloved Parishioners,

Today I share with you reflection on All Saints and what the solemnity means for us as Catholics who confess I believe in the communion of Saints in our creed. Last week we celebrated the Solemnity of All Saints, otherwise known as All Hallows, a feast that reminds us that we are a part of a larger communion which transcends time and space, connecting us to the saints in heaven. In the 9th article of the Apostle's Creed, we profess "I believe in the Holy Catholic Church, the Communion of Saints." It is exactly that Communion of Saints, Communio Sanctorum in Latin, that we are highlighting today. This Communion of Saints in the Mystical body of Christ, the Church, on the level of Sancta (holy things) point us to the things we share for example the Eucharist and other sacraments. However, on the level of Sancti (holy people), this Communion of Saints exists in the three states of the Church namely: the Church Militant (ecclesia militans), the Church Penitent (ecclesia poenitens), and the Church Triumphant (ecclesia triumphans).

The focus of the celebration is on the Church Triumphant. We celebrate the communion we share with the saints in heaven because for us Catholics, the saints are not really dead, but are fully alive in Jesus Christ, who is life itself (John 11:25; 14:6) and the bread of life who bestows life on all who eat His flesh and drink His blood (John 6:35, 48, 51, 53-56). The saints are alive in heaven because of the life they have received through their faith in Christ Jesus and through their eating of His body and blood. The book of Revelation tells us about the saints worshipping God, singing hymns, playing instruments, making requests to Christ to avenge their martyrdom, and offering prayers for the saints on earth (Rev. 4:10, 5:8, 6:9-11). Because they are alive, we believe that we can go to them to intercede for us with God since CCC 947 rightly teaches that "Since all the faithful form one body, the good of each is communicated to the others..."

On this special feast of All Saints, we celebrate all the known and canonized saints, as well as the unknown saints who could be members of our family, our friends and acquaintances who now share the beatific vision. The date for this feast on November 1 was universalized by Pope Gregory IV in the 9th Century. Prior to that, feasts commemorating all Christian martyrs were held by the early Church in various places on various dates near Easter and Christmas. Additionally, the feast of All Saints is one of the Holy Days of obligation in the Church.

By instituting this feast, the Church wants us to understand that our fundamental call as Christians is a call to holiness and this call is not restricted to the clergy or consecrated persons, rather it is universal. Lumen Gentium 40 highlights that "the followers of Christ must hold on to and perfect in their lives that sanctification which they have received from God" and in Matthew 5:48 Jesus admonishes us that we must be holy as our Heavenly Father is holy. In fact, we picked up our appointment letter to a life of holiness on the day we became baptized. It's a lifelong endeavor but the grace of God is there to assist us. Our generation is not exempted in this call to holiness. We have seen the example of Blessed Carlo Acutis who was born in 1991 and who died in 2006 that will soon be canonized in a later date that will be made known to us by the Holy See this year. His example shows us that even in the 21st century, the call to holiness is not outdated.

The last part of this reflection will be concluded next week but let me once again express my sincere appreciation to you all, my beloved parishioners, for your constant response to the needs of the parish. Since last week I made the appeal for the Air Condition I have received a lot of good positive response from many of you. May God bless you and your families.

Fr. Tony Okolo C.S.Sp., V.F.

Theme: Generosity Comes from the Heart

32nd Sunday in Ordinary Time Year B, November 10, 2024

First Reading: 1 Kings 17:10-16, Second: Hebrews 9:24-28, Gospel: Mark 12:38-44

The first reading and the gospel present us with generosity of two destitute widows who gave all they had based on their trust in the living God and his prophet. The widow in the first reading relies on the word of Prophet Elijah and acted without doubt when she was asked to sacrifice the last part of what she and her son had to eat. The reading teaches us that to be generous does not depend on how much we have but how open our heart is to give. For us to appreciate these two widows we need to understand the condition of widows in the time of the Prophet Elijah and that of Jesus. During this time in Israel, women generally have no voice and status in the society. They derived their status from their husband so when a woman loses her husband it seems like her world is ended as she loses her position, identity, status, and voice in the society.

It is supposed to be the moral responsibilities of the scribes to act as agents to defend them and give them protection but not only they neglect this responsibility some even exploit them. According to Living liturgy, “widows often found themselves destitute victims of fraud at the hands of the unscrupulous whom they may have trusted, scribes included.” The man to protect her is gone and her only hope for security and protection is now placed on God. It is against this background we can appreciate the sacrifices of these widows when they gave all they had to live on. Therefore, the readings teach us five cardinal points about generosity.

1.) To be generous, one does not need to be rich. What one needs is the heart that gives because real generosity comes from the heart. When the heart is moved to give the amount or the quantity does not matter, what matters most is the heart with which the gift is given.

2.) True generosity does not impoverish but enriches the giver. We do not need to be afraid to give because true generosity does not impoverish the giver but enriches the person more. Generosity expands the soul. We can never outmatch God in generosity. He has given us the best of gifts by sending us his only begotten son, the Lord Jesus Christ who offered up His life for us on the cross.

3.) Real giving hurts. Any real giving must cost us something and it is there that the blessing is received. The widow in the first reading gives out the last jar of oil and flour that her life and that of her son depended on but God made it that it never dried up or finished. We need to give without counting the cost as Jesus Our Lord sacrificed His whole life for us.

4.) The greatest enemy of generosity is greed; the desire to accumulate and hoard for ourselves alone and the excessive desire for personal gain and security.

5.) The greatest gift you can give is goodwill. Some can give from abundance but lack the goodwill to support you. In as much one can give physical cash the good should be paramount in our exercise of generosity.

The final point we get especially from the gospel is that God sees the heart of each person. When I was a little boy, my mom would always tell me, “Tony, always behave well because even if I don’t see you, God sees you.” The story of the widow in the gospel of today demonstrates very well this message that God sees the inner heart and actions of everyone. Let us, like the widows we encounter in today’s reading, open our heart to the spirit of generosity.

Happy Sunday to you all.

Fr. Tony Okolo C.S.Sp., V.F.

REMEMBERING OUR LOVED ONES

By tradition, the Catholic Church dedicates the month of November to the Holy Souls in Purgatory, those faithful Christians who have died and gone before us but who still must atone for their sins. The time they spend in Purgatory cleanses them so that they may enter heaven free from all effects of sin.

Praying for the dead, especially for those we have known, is part of Christian charity. Our prayers and sacrifices can be offered up to relieve their suffering.

The parish will offer over 40 Masses this November for all the faithfully departed whose names are written in the Book of Memory located in the Narthex of the church.

This is a wonderful opportunity for you to pray for and remember your parents, children, grandparents, family and friends.

Envelopes are available for your sacrificial offering to pray for the deceased.
